

What are we/you willing to do to become one?

(Response to the above question from priesthood members meeting together at the 2021 In-town Reunion & CRE)

- Encourage pastors from Restoration to separate themselves to work on things to bring us together
- I believe I would do anything told me to do from God, other than it becomes item-by-item basis
- I am willing to set aside my feelings for the benefit of the relationships. We need to set aside anything that doesn't build up the Kingdom or benefit it
- Love everyone despite of our diffs and contentions
- Studying the scriptures more to be an overachiever to go the extra mile and do my best
- Come together, and this means physically come together, and show love for one another-- seek first to understand, then be understood
- Become one more fully with my wife. Become His because of becoming one. Seeking agreement with desire to find consensus and agreement
- Pray that God would open doors for healing, that families would be united, that those in offices would feel and heed God's Spirit
- Seek to love, being obedient to the commandments
- I am willing to listen to the still small voice of Jesus and be a doer-- be involved.... go where He leads me, trust Him for all
- I am willing to do whatever I can do to unite with each other in charity, the pure love of God
- We as a body should be willing to set aside diffs, with the willingness to let Spirit bring us together
- Set aside anything and everything that doesn't compromise doctrine
- Set aside literally anything, including my sin
- Willing to submit
- I'll be happy to read or listen to a summary of what occurred in the Remnant church and JCRB since their formation. I hope we're close in our beliefs.
- We, elders, have the opportunity to send out the proposed letter to the branches as a start-- I am willing to get out of my comfort zone and spend a lot of my time. I believe that God must intercede for us to succeed. Ref Isa 19 for impossible being done.
- I am willing to accept the priesthood auth of men in the other factions and serve with them. I am willing to embrace and accept my brothers and sisters in other groups
- We should be willing to sit together in discussion. Willing to set aside unproductive activities like TV and use that time to reach out to others
- I'm willing to set aside diffs and preconceived notions and reason and love one with another-- love my fellow saints w/o any conditions
- Hopefully everything that is req by scripture to fall within the type and shadow of man's history with God

- Study church history and scriptures better
- More fasting and prayer
- More preparation to have an accurate and precise, undeniable testimony
- Search out love, reconciliation, seek out truth
- Give up anger
- Find common ground and work together while praying and fasting together
- Forgive those who I harbor ill-will toward, and seek forgiveness. Must change my heart
- Gather together regularly to fix differences
- Must give up our fear of losing control to others
- Must be more humble and helpful before my fellow saints in the church
- Ask God daily what He wants us to do that day for Him. Ask God weekly and monthly
- I am willing to sacrifice my time and temporalities to be in Zion
- Willing to gather in worship for.....Gather together in our needs
- Pray diligently and collectively
- Counsel those in need
- Ask what our Savior wants
- Search my soul to find anyone I don't like
- Help every stranger I meet in some way
- Ask the Lord to show me who to help
- Pay tithes to others whom He directs
- File a tithing statement and pay tithing and offering
- Extend hand and heart of fellowship to every saint, faction or not, and every soul I meet
- Examine my life and rid it of pride, envy, and selfishness
- *I'll give my all for unity of the church.
- Praying and asking for forgiveness amongst ourselves and from God
- I would be willing to share in worship services with priesthood and saints from all the restoration groups. The women and youth already do some of this, but joint retreats and camps planned and open to all would be a good start.
- I would be willing to participate in worship services, retreats, and camps that would be jointly planned and run by priesthood and saints from as many from the different restoration groups as possible
